

Consulting Services

Our mission is to provide you with the highest quality talent at a fair price and in a responsive manner. Our industry professionals focus on recruiting, screening and qualifying the finest IT talent available. We are able to find them when others simply cannot. Think of the time and money you'll save by not having to place want ads, and then screen piles of resumes just to find a few good candidates.

Staytop Consulting Services

Your Staytop account team is dedicated to helping you find the best IT professionals to work on your next project. In order to find the perfect fit, we screen qualified candidates whose expertise includes system design, programming, database design, project management, software engineering, quality assurance, and system administration.

How to start finding the right resources

Staytop account managers begin by helping you define your staffing needs for the near or long term. In addition to our own large and diverse W-2 staff, Staytop has a database of thousands of skilled professionals from which we draw. Before we consider presenting a candidate to you, they are put through a rigorous screening process. Our screening process includes an in-house technical screening (conducted by an expert in that specific skill-set), multiple reference checks, as well as online testing conducted by a respected third party. This process ensures that we identify only quality candidates as per your business requirements.

Your Staytop account manager creates a detailed job order from your staffing requirements. It provides a detailed picture of the position including:

- Type of position
- Required and preferred skills
- Level of education required
- Percentage of travel
- Desired experience
- Location
